

Dev-stonks is a developers social website where developers can share their projects and also they have access to an e-commerce section where they can buy development books.

The admin is able to ADD, UPDATE, DELETE products(Books) and do products management (manage status, quantity, price ...).

The developer (client) is able to create an account (Register/Login/Logout) after registration he's able to create his profile (bio, location, social, ...) also the developer can post a post (project idea) where he can create, delete, get and update a post he can also like-unlike-comment a post, follow-unfollow another users, view products in shop(e-commerce) section, add products to cart and proceed to payment.